Hancock County To Appoint Industrial Committee At Court House Meeting Feb. 5

A new meeting has been called for Feb. 5 to appoint a committee which will be in charge of seeking industry for Hancock County. This was the outgrowth of a meeting Monday at the courthouse. Civic leaders and business men accepted the invitation of John Shaw, president of the board of supervisors, to discuss the matter with a representative of Mississippi's Balance Agriculture with Industry Board.

This Board was set up by the legislature to help communities lure industry. On the invitation of Rep. Walter James Phillips, the board sent William Sanders to meet with Bay St. Louis groups.

Most of the Monday meeting was taken up with Sanders' explanation on how other Mississippi cities have imported industry.

"It's not easy," he said. "It takes years. And it's sometimes heartbreaking. Sometimes the smallest thing will ruin the biggest deal."

"You've got to keep plugging," he explained that it is possible for a city or county to use its funds to build a plant for the new company. This money is raised through a bond issue, and is paid back by the company eventually through a long lease.

But he warned that money is not everything. He said the labor supply, the condition of the schools, and the attitude of welcome have a great deal to do with where a plant sets up.

He explained how the Board gets prospects. It checks to see just what firms—usually in the northeast, might have a reason for moving south. One man may be selling goods in the south and then paying expensive freight charges. Another may be having labor troubles. There are various reasons.

But as soon as a prospect is found, the board contacts him. "From then on it's up to the individual communities."

Lee Wood, assistant representative for the Mississippi Power Company, also attended the meeting and explained that he would help Hancock County to the utmost.

One thing needed is a sweeping survey of industrial and living conditions in the county. He said the Mississippi Power Company would make this survey for Hancock County, and produce the brochure which will be needed to "sell" the county to businesses.

Both Mr. Wood and Mr. Sanders urged that the committee be representative, and that it be composed of men who know they're going to have to work hard and meet many failures before their first success.

Ray's Jerome's Are Robbed

Merchandise valued at $500 dollars was taken in two robberies from Ray's Drive-In last week and thieves also made off with $15 in cash from Jerome's Department Store.

The sheriff's office reported that the two incidents at the highway restaurant took place on Monday night and on Friday last week. "Several suspects have been questioned by us," said Sam Peterson of the sheriff's office, "but so far we have nothing to make public."

In this case, as in the robbery at the store owned by Jerome Carver on Main St. the robbers entered through the back door. Carver reported that no merchandise was missing from his establishment. Following the discovery Wednesday morning that the back entrance was open, a search revealed only hat money from the cash register had been taken.

The Mississippi State Board of Health reminds all hunters using dogs that a permanent rabies control program as specified under Chapter 337, Mississippi Laws of 1938 is in effect in the following counties:

Boliver, Sunflower, Talahatchie, Monroe, Carroll, Holmes, Humphreys, Sharkey, Issaquena, Jefferson, Washington, Hancock, Yazoo, Madison, Claiborne, Adams, Jasper, Jones, Jefferson Davis, Marion, Pearl River, Harrison, Leflore.

"The rabies control officer under the supervision of the local health department in these counties will enforce this law and Public Health Rules and Regulations," announced Dr. A. L. Gray, Director, Division of Preventable Disease Control, Mississippi State Board of Health, Tuesday, December 8, 1953.

This program is certainly to the interest of the hunter, his dog, and game," continued Dr. Gray.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 5—Sixty-one hunters from 26 counties paid $1,050 in fines for violating the game and fish laws from December 20, 1953 through January 1, 1954, according to Wade H. Creekmore, Director of the Game and Fish Commission.

Six non-residents were among the violators fined. Two were fined $55 each for killing over the limit of ducks which were the largest fined assessed. These two hunters killed 16 ducks together which were confiscated by the wardens and donated to the Tate and Desoto County Welfare Departments.

Watson Johns and Dec Elliott caught the limit of green trout Sunday. The water is beginning to get good and the fish were biting like they were hungry. Looks good for future fishing.

Sorry to hear that our fishing and hunting partner, Earle Kirkpatrick is under the weather right now. Better hurry and be out again.

Boys Genin and little Bob were also after the green trout Sunday. They made a nice catch.

Things are really picking up at the new golf course at Henderson Point. Even the members are helping in the improvements, making a work day at the course a fun day.

An outstanding boy scout will be seen represent Mississippi at the Youth Conference of the "Door Americans" to be held in Chicago March 10, 11 and 12, the sponsorship of the National League of American People's representative will have opportunity to complete at an honor.

It takes lots of SAVINGS

TO DO WHAT WE ARE DOING IN MISSISSIPPI

Only a financially healthy telephone company can keep on improving and expanding to keep pace with our State's increasing need for more telephones and improved service.

In the past 3 years, Southern Bell has spent over 82 million dollars; more than doubled the number of individual and two-party telephones in the State; increased the total number of telephones from 115,876 to over 258,000.

For this work, great quantities of materials and supplies are bought from Mississippi industries. All this building has required increasingly greater tax payments for the support of state and local governments.

To get investors to let us use their savings to continue expanding and improving telephone service requires a fair profit on the money already invested in telephone equipment.
